

| Government

The Government can mean 2 different things: either a body of individuals or a corporation. The Government holds the Treasure.

| Government as a body of individuals

In this case, the Government means the group of individuals which work under or as part of the Government as a corporation. Often, this refers to--specifically--Elected Officials.

| Government as a corporation

In this case, the Government means everything else relating to the Government which is not a specific individual. Some examples of this would be: the rules imposed by the Elected Officials or the land that the Government controls, Jurisdictional Property.